Dedication

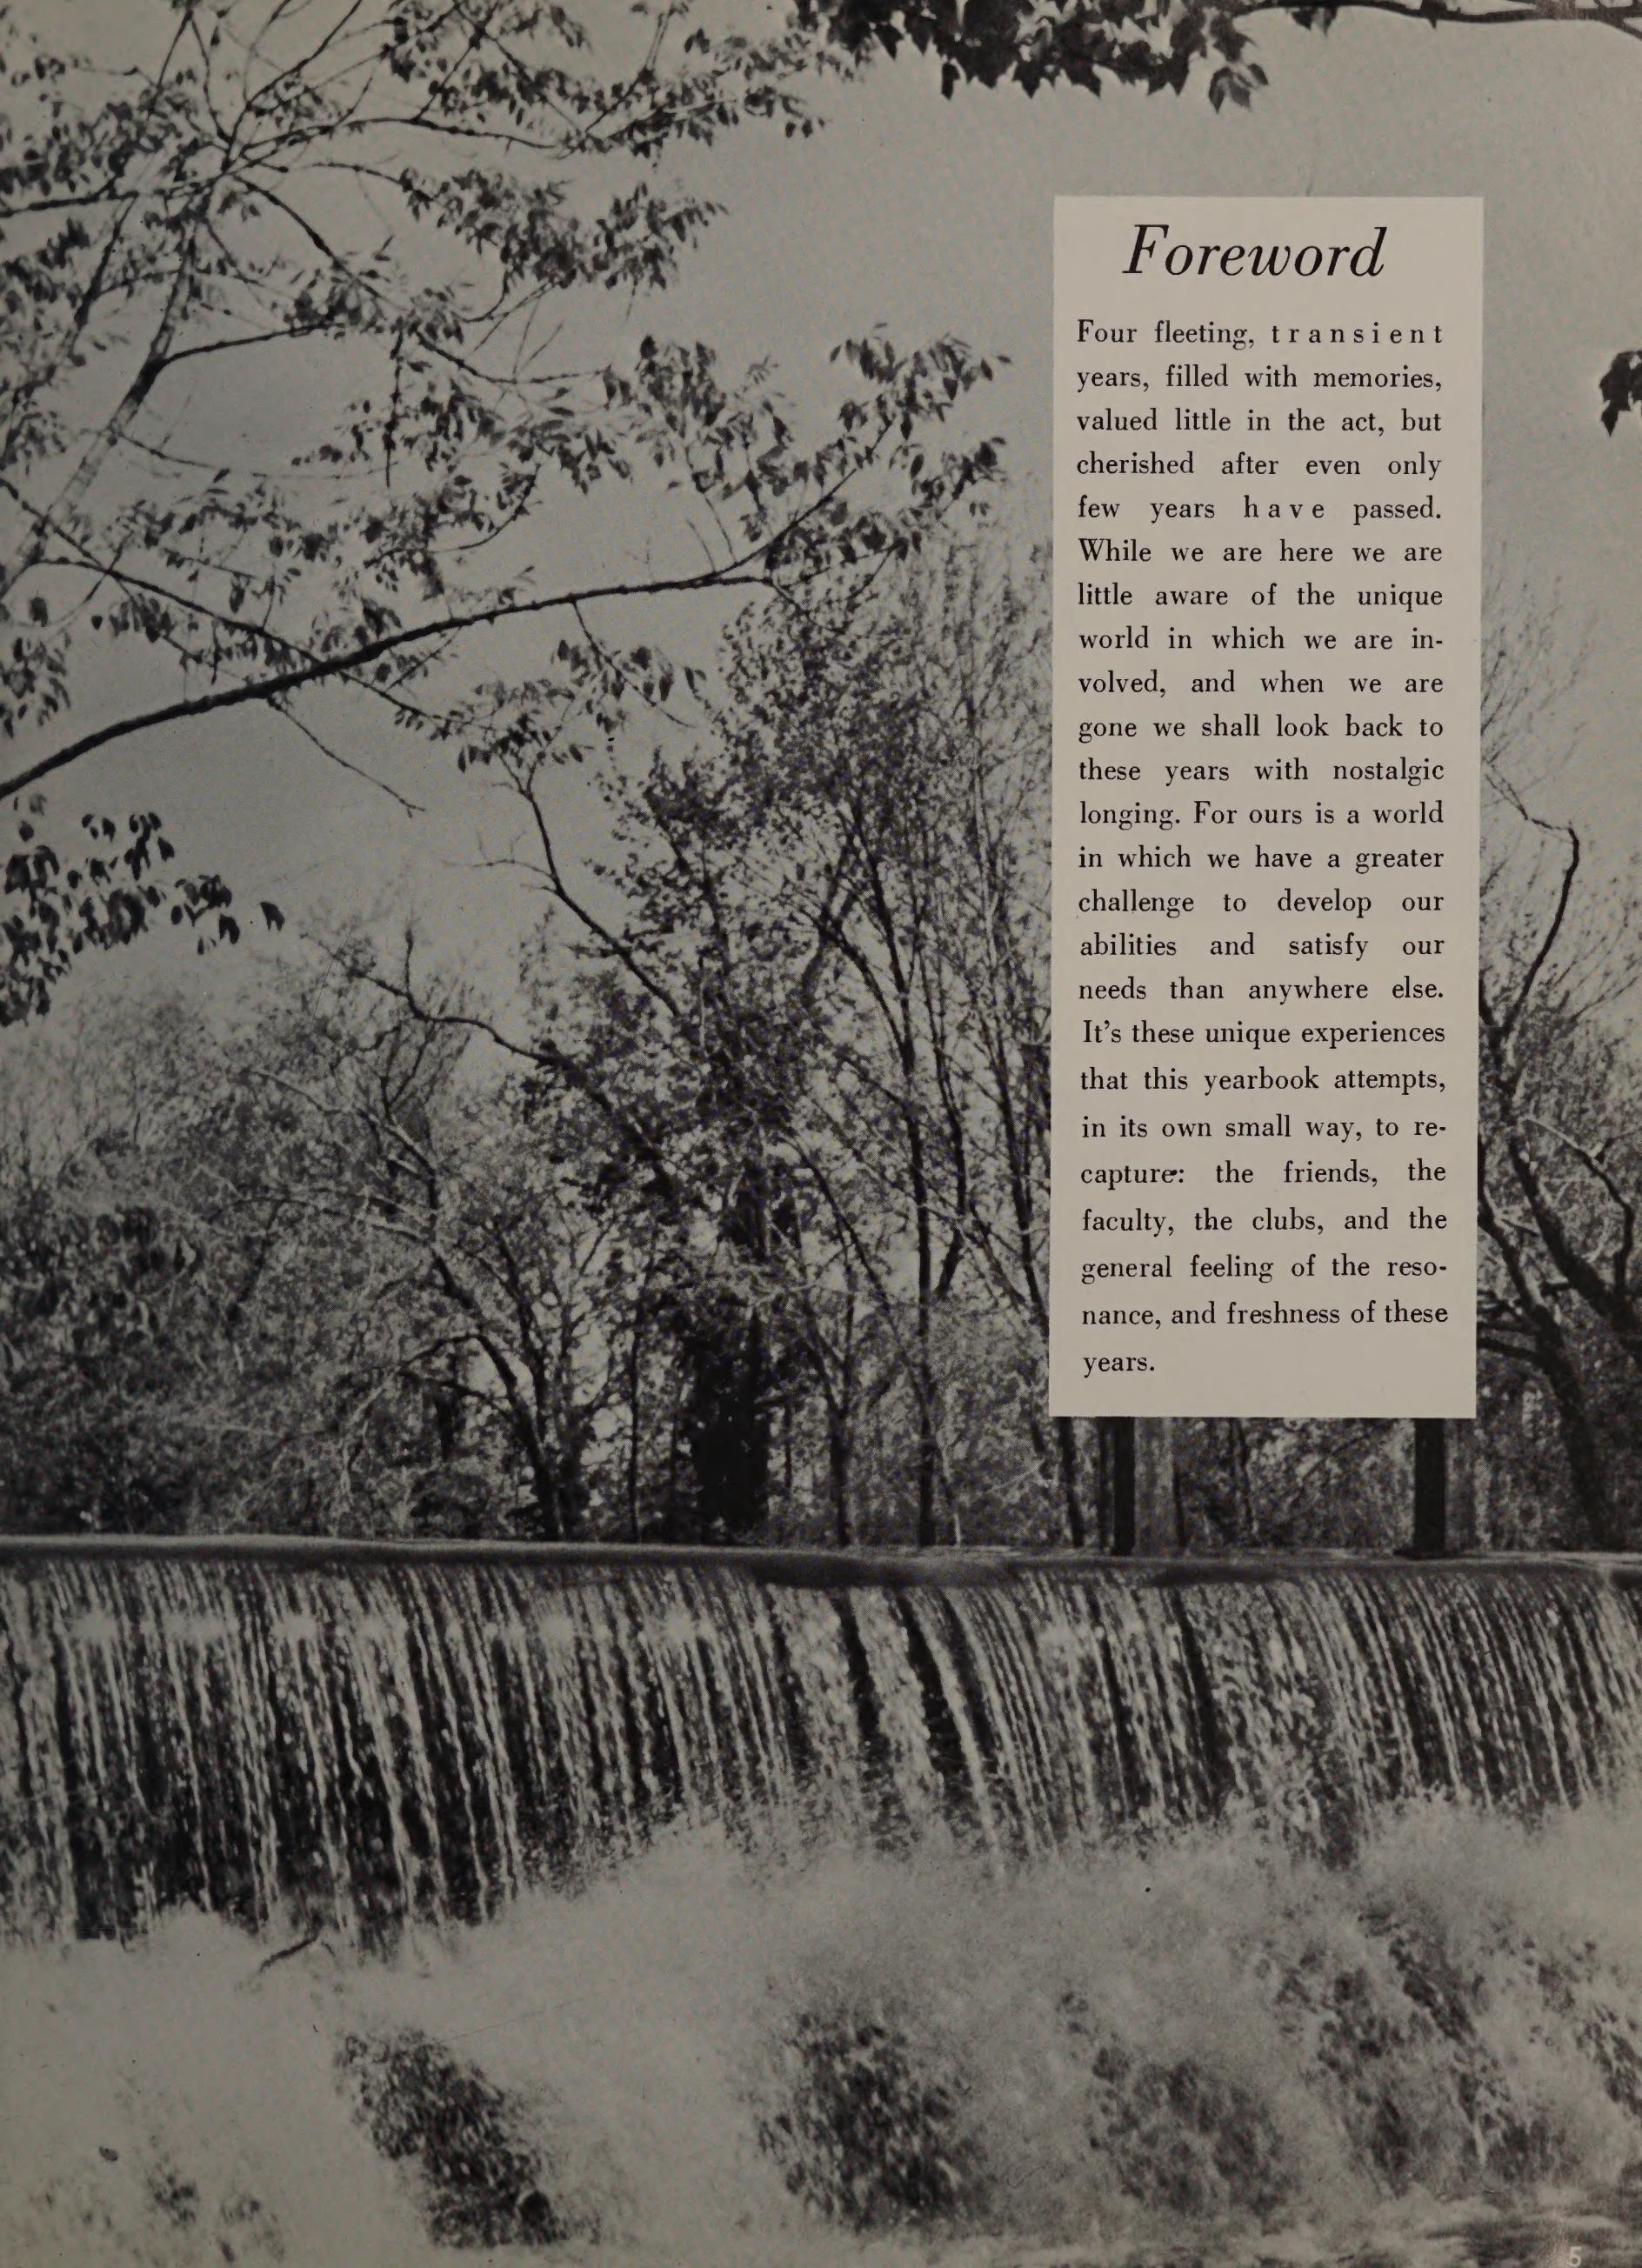

*Mr. John Croke
1940-1965*

Our yearbook is dedicated to Mr. John Croke, a former mathematics and economics teacher, whose young life ended untimely in a tragic accident.

Mr. Croke was here at Case High so brief a time that we had just begun to know him; but this much we do remember: his life was almost as young as our lives are now. As we leave Case High School this year to face the risks and challenges of which the world consists, so too did Mr. Croke terminate his services at Case High School last year to pursue an advanced degree in economics. We are only a year apart in our commencements.

There is a type of apprehension that we do not fully understand residing behind our sometimes laughing, sometimes frowning faces in the pages of this yearbook. Yet we are willing, even impatient, to take the risks, face the same challenges of a world that just a year ago proved to be unkind.

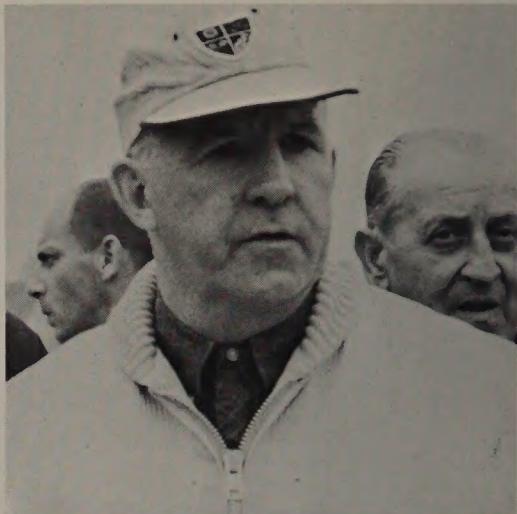

Foreword

Four fleeting, transient years, filled with memories, valued little in the act, but cherished after even only few years have passed. While we are here we are little aware of the unique world in which we are involved, and when we are gone we shall look back to these years with nostalgic longing. For ours is a world in which we have a greater challenge to develop our abilities and satisfy our needs than anywhere else. It's these unique experiences that this yearbook attempts, in its own small way, to recapture: the friends, the faculty, the clubs, and the general feeling of the resonance, and freshness of these years.

Superintendent

It is not often we come directly into contact with Mr. Donald F. McCaffrey. We see him on the stage platform during an assembly or now and then throughout the school. This does, however, in no way minimize the work which he is responsible for. Behind the scenes most always, he heads and supervises the affairs of the whole Swansea Public School system. He creates and often begins the changes in the schools which make for a better educational system. As he completes his fourth full term in this demanding capacity, we express confidence in his future work and guidance of the young people throughout our town.

Administration

MISS HELEN A. REAGAN

Principal

Marking her twentieth year as principal of the Joseph Case High School, Miss Helen A. Reagan has served in a manner befitting her capacity of responsibility to the school. With both wisdom and dignity she has guided both whole classes and individuals through the rigors of school life. Her office is the abode of warmth and pride and the place of frank warning and criticism. Her name, and indeed, her very being, is inseparably associated with the school, for she has grown with it, suffering in all it may have suffered, and striving forward with all of its advances. The greatest way to measure her greatness as both principal and as a lady is to enumerate the fine men and women who have passed through these doors and into the world, successfully, under her guidance.

Administration

Vice Principal

Always with a concern for the student, Mr. Edward Silva has loomed before us a disciplinarian, foremost in the areas of watcher-of-the-exit-door between 8:00 A.M. and 2:00 P.M. and chief-smoke-smeller-and-nicotine-detector. Yet, we know him equally well in the capacity of high school spirit conjuror through his invocations over the P. A. system. And as we get to know him better, he seems to be human, friendly, and compassionate, serving not solely to discipline and exhort, but to guide and counsel. Thus, through his efforts, we may learn the values and responsibilities of being young men and women.

From the stream of bits and pieces of our language we are given nouns, verbs, adjectives, prepositions . . . we piece together the thoughts and images of others, a vast storehouse of knowledge, the memory of the world . . .

In this vast communication of mankind, similar thoughts may come from separate cultures, and so we must learn of these modes of communication and their effects on the patterns of expression.

Physical Education

Foremost in our world of reality is the physical application of our bodies ... as a means of self-expression in individual courage and determination for oneself and for the team.

Another physical part of the world is the reality of what makes things go, what makes things happen the way they do . . .

Science

This is answered by the sciences which seek continually to solve these

MR. CONROY
Mathematics, Head Mathematics
Department

Mathematics is the universal expression of sciences, yet it goes farther than this into an expression of itself, a mysterious semi-existence which we can only detect, and still it maintains the everyday practicality of business life in which our lives are measured.

Class of '68

A sophomore—what is he? Where is he going? Whatever the answers may be, he is well on his way—he has passed that first critical year and is now slowly but surely getting “in.” His world is one of decision—he is learning how to become accepted in a world which seems to be a vast expanse of adults. He strives to prove to himself and others that he is worthy of their acceptance. So it seems his task is a serious one, not to be lightly put aside, but at the same time not to weigh too heavily upon him. He will find when the year ends that he did survive, and probably that he appreciated his new experiences in growing up.

A freshman faces a myriad of major choices and adjustments. The adjustments are universal, but the choices are individual. Clubs, cliques, and crowds swarm before him. Upperclassmen, teachers, and exams whirl and loom, revolve and recede. Frequently frantic or passively panicked, the freshman models himself after the casual nonchalance of the secure upperclassmen. He is looking for the place where he belongs; he is sure there is a place, and so he must make daily choices that will affect his future. A successful freshman year is but a step towards a well-adjusted life . . . which is itself a progression of choices.

First row l. to r., M. Rezendes, K. Kaplin, J. Dufour, M. Faria, T. Romanovitch, K. Sardinia, B. Whitting, J. Varanese, S. Lournier, B. Ryan, L. Vigneau, K. Wood, J. Demarais, B. Paradiso, C. Business Bees

Their own life of typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and office work has a lot of value in the business world of today.

Librarians

The librarians are very valuable to both students and teachers. Efficiency is needed whether it be the recording of incoming and out-going books, keeping accurate files, or helping students and teachers to find needed information. Both girls and boys render their assistance before school, after school, and during library periods.

Future Teachers of America

The Future Teachers of America Club has been organized for the encouragement and better understanding of the teaching career. Although our own F.T.A. is relatively new, it nonetheless has a large membership and is one of the most active clubs in the school. Teaching is a challenging and rewarding profession. And so our underclassmen should remember that if they plan to teach, the F.T.A. is the "first step" to a successful teaching career.

Latin Club

"Salve discupules" is a familiar greeting to members of the Latin Club. It is this group of determined souls who bear the task of translating passages from Latin to understandable English; and even then there is some doubt as to what Caesar or Cicero was saying!

One day each year is theirs—Latin Day. At this time costumed students may be seen roaming the corridors anxiously awaiting a 2-or-3-period long movie about some ancient happening. (And of course they are thinking of the educational value and not of missing classes!!)

P. Flanagan (advisor), First row, l. to r. S. Freeman, S. McNeil, C. Dunlap, M. Mello, P. McGovern, D. Morse, R. Guindon. Second row, l. to r. J. Papandrea, D. Cabral, N. Goff, L. Wojtowicz, K. Junior Classical League

The Junior Classical League is comprised of third and fourth year Latin students whose objective is to translate Cicero's Orations and The Third Catilinian into understandable prose. The reward for such diligence is the annual trip to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to admire and examine the relics of Roman culture and to enjoy a day off from school.

French Club

The French Club is comprised of third-year French students. They create some basic French prose and poetry which is put together into "La Classical," the French Newspaper. A trip for the members is provided every year. The good supervision together with the hard-working members make this club a success.

L. to r. P. Landock, G. Orton, R. Martineau, M. Gersch, C. Provost, P. Martelli, Mrs. Papandrea (advisor), J. Pietraszek, C. Connors, J. King.

Oracle Staff

In the fall of 1965, nine enthusiastic members gathered the bits of literary genius collected from fellow classmates and put them together into a sometimes humorous, critical, or very serious literary magazine called the "Oracle". Some consider it a work of art.

National Honor Society

Scholarship, Leadership, Character and Service: there are the qualities of the chosen members of the National Honor Society.

Certificates of Merit and pins of distinction are presented to these select individuals at impressive ceremonies attended by invited parents, guests and the student body.

This recognition and reward is a way of saying that Case High acknowledges intellectual excellence and achievement.

Debating Club

Debating is success or defeat rolled into one little word. Before a team begins to exchange ideas with an opposing team, before it is ready to face a judge, it must attempt to evaluate what the opposing team "may" say. Debating develops the ability to listen, to evaluate, to criticize. Its influence is lasting!!

Bios Club

The Bios Club is a club organized under the direction of Mrs. Siendentopf. These Club-goers are the hardest working people here at Case. They can be seen in Spring and Fall with rakes and various materials to beautify the school and dam area. Their diligent work is culminated by an outing on a weekend in the spring.

The "Chief" staff frantically rushes to meet deadlines, with such remarks as "where's page 49?", "Have you seen those basketball candids," and "is the who's who layout finished?" It seems that no matter how much gets done, there is always more to do—and always the same scramble against time. Although the work is time-consuming, often tedious, those who do the work really wouldn't want to give it up—or forget the many afternoons spent in Mr. O'Toole's "little room."

"Do you have any idea on what to write about?" is the favorite quote of the Cardinal Staff.

At times the confusion seems unbearable, the tension exhausting, but the satisfaction of seeing "The Cardinal" being read by fellow students seems to be enough reward to make anyone recover and be ready to again face the task of putting out the school newspaper.

Football '65'

What looked like a promising season after an auspicious start in Case's first venture in pre season football, crumbled in a deluge of injury, misfortune, and the resulting frustration of a 1-7-1 slate.

Despite the dismal record, the team showed a more cohesive team spirit and a definite promise for the future. They experienced decisive routs (43-6 at the hands of Falmouth and 44-0 at Bourne).

The Cards had their moments, however. Including a 6-6 tie with the proud Vikings of Wareham, the Barnstable victory and the game with Southbridge, in which we outscored the foe in the second half after a shaky opening.

Several Cardinal stalwarts were picked on area "all" teams. They included co-capt Mike Macedo—honorable mention, All State; co-capt. Bob DiPietro—Taunton News (all Bristol County small schools); and Gene Desruisseaux, Herald News All Suburban Team.

Case High's fine basketball team opened the 1965-1966 season under its new coach, Bob Gorden. Early indications pointed toward a successful season, for what the boys lacked in experience, they made up in desire. The season ended with a record of 8 wins and 10 losses. The team fought hard though, often missing important players through injuries. Many of the losses were by a small margin and could just as easily been victories. Our team's best games were in losing to Holy Family, undefeated league champs, by two points and beating archrival Somerset. Although we finished in sixth place, we made our presence known and we never gave up without a fight. All in all the basketball team was a credit to Case High School.

Baseball '66

With the beginning of the 1965 season came the stubborn icy blasts of a spring that wanted to play winter. The Cardinal nine weren't bothered by this cold and proved it by starting out the season with a red hot record. The Redbird nine rolled up impressive wins against area teams such as Somerset (9-1), Diman (17-10) and Apponequet (18-2). The end of the second half was, as some people put it, "something else". A heartbreaker was lost to Somerset (4-3), D-R took first place away with the score (6-1) and O-R took away all hopes with a (3-2) win in the final game of the season. The Cardinals finished a respectable second with a 13 and 6 record.

Track

The Case High Track Team finished its 1965 season with a record of two wins, three losses, and finished third in the Narry League Meet. The results of these meets were as follows:

Case vs. Somerset	55-49
Case vs. Dighton	38-66
Case vs. Old Rochester	61-43
Case vs. Bishop Feehan	20-57
Case vs. Apponequet	45-59

The Case team compiled 24 points in the Narry meet to secure third place.

The top scorer for the team was Ed Malmborg, who finished the season with a total of 50 pts. Other high scorers for the season were: Jerry Johnson $35\frac{3}{4}$, Bob English 29, Ed Bolduc 22, and Harry McKinley 22.

This year's team although losing many of its high point earners to the alumni ranks has been strengthened by the outstanding performances of Paul Cote, Steve Cross and Art Pacheco.

Cross Country

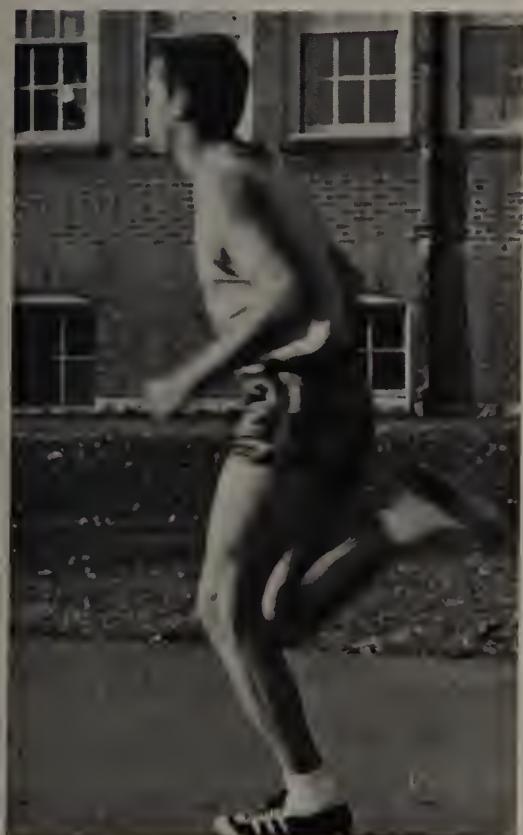

"Okey, let's get the cals out of the way." Thus started another sweating round of practice for Coach Johnson's team. The sound of feet running on hard pavement was the signal for the coming of a hard-bred core of boys who wanted to win. Since the renewal of cross country four years ago a dismal record of 0-10 for three seasons was eyed disgustingly.

They won two meets. The desire to win was too overpowering to have another season follow the previous patterns. The basis which was being built for three years started to pay off. Then the season ended. The boys looked back with pride at what they accomplished. Probably to the casual observer it wasn't much, but it was. To four seniors it meant a lot. It meant an accomplishment heretofore unheard of. Next year—will be better.

Girls Basketball

Norma Beausoliel (manager), Lynn Wojtowitz, Kristine VanCleve, Diane Desmond, Cris Provost, Jane Place, Margie Gersch, Janice Thibault, Maureen Angelini, Donna Duphiny, Miss Rizy (coach).

The Case High Girl's Varsity Basketball Team ended its season with a 9 to 1 record. Their only loss was to Somerset. The team is made up of girls who know what hard work is and what can be gained by it. Only through many long hours of practice, good sportsmanship, team spirit, and a good coach can a team have as a successful year as did the Cardinals. The J.V. ended their season with a 9 to 1 record also. Their only loss was to D-R. This team showed the same aspects of a varsity team, minus experience.

The Southeastern Mass. Tournament was entered.
